

Celebrate the World Ocean!

Sat,

May 21

11:30am-2:30pm

At Aquarium of the Bay we celebrate World Oceans Day through an entire week of activities and crafts, and we're bringing some of these engaging activities to the Bay Model! Join a naturalist to help dissect the pellet, or bolus, of a juvenile black-footed albatross chick to see what these open ocean wanderers are confusing with food. You'll find out all sorts of way you can become an ocean activist, helping protect our bay and ocean waters.
