

Heirs to Our Oceans

Tue March 27 7pm–9pm

Heirs To Our Oceans are youth leaders who are dedicated to inspire awareness, responsibility and action amongst youth worldwide to protect the waters of our Blue Planet for future generations. They empower youth, supporting them in their education and engagement in tackling human impact on our planet. They are active in the world making change and protecting our oceans through beach clean ups, speaking engagements, political action and more. The Heirs make every effort to help adults understand that their daily actions affect the oceans and health of their children.

The Heirs work to encourage parents, educators, and policy makers to teach youth starting in middle school about real-world problems so that they may develop essential problem-solving skills to prepare them for the world they will inherit. The Heirs also advocate for children to spend more time in their natural environment — in water! — because one protects what one cares about.

Finally, Heirs foster hope, optimism and the continued processing of creative solutions in solving the ocean crisis. Heirs To Our Oceans is creating the next generation of environmental leaders. They are unstoppable because they have to be.
