OTHER ITEMS OF CONCERN

Jim McGrath noted the importance of documenting lessons learned from and auditing the actual costs of using past beneficial reuse projects, such as use of the Hamilton site, which was used for material from the Port of Oakland’s 50-foot deepening project.

Brenda Goeden noted that the LTMS and San Francisco Bay Joint Venture are having a meeting on September 1 at BCDC to discuss improved interagency coordination with regard to sediment supply and marsh restoration issues. Topics of discussion will include sediment deficit, marsh nourishment, and benthic impacts of dragging placed dredged material to a given site.
