Traveling Light - Art Exhibition -

Stephanie Thwaites is an award winning artist working in oil and cold wax, a medium which imparts rich texture and a lovely translucent quality. She finds inspiration in nature, but also in architectural and geometric forms. From representational to abstract, she strives to create dynamic space that is intricate and layered, but still grounded. A graduate of the Yale University Fine Arts program, Stephanie works out of her studio at Marin MOCA (Museum of Contemporary Art) in Novato and has shown her work through solo shows and many national and local juried shows and galleries.
