In 2012, an extensive update of the National Wetland Plant List (NWPL) was finalized. In an effort to continue improving the quality of the wetland ratings on the NWPL, the NWPL national panel is releasing an online questionnaire designed to identify those plant species for which wetland ratings may need revisions, as well as species that should be considered for addition and/or deletion from the list (see enclosed announcement).

A link to the questionnaire and an example of a completed questionnaire for an individual plant species can be found on the NWPL website at: http://wetland_plants.usace.army.mil/.
